For Third Year, SisterSON Named One of the Best Places to Work

PITTSBURGH, Pa.; October 16, 2008 – Regional accounting and consulting firm, SisterSON & Co. LLP, has been named one of the 50 Best Places to Work in Western Pennsylvania by the Pittsburgh Business Times. This is the third year in a row that SisterSON has been included on the list.

William E. Troup, Managing Partner at SisterSON, stresses that a little caring goes a long way to keep employees happy. “Money is a short-term motivator to attract employees, but you have to keep them motivated to enjoy their work.” Troup added, “The other Partners and I are humbled by this recognition and honored that the employees feel the same way that we do – that SisterSON is a great place to work.”

More than 150 companies participated in this year’s online survey of employee satisfaction. The answers served as the basis for the overall top 50 rankings, as well as rankings in three separate categories: small companies (up to 50 employees); medium companies (51 to 150 employees); and large (150 or more). The survey measures team effectiveness, alignment with goals, co-worker relationships, individual contribution, manager effectiveness, trust in senior leaders, feeling valued, work engagement and people practices.
